Project idea

Nowadays if you want to build a fortune, investing is a must. No matter how much you earn, you should always look for possibilities to increase your wealth.

For this reason, my project idea is about stock market predictions. Most people have little to no knowledge about investing. That's why such technology can help them in making the right decision.

The prediction is going to be whether a specific stock's value will increase or not. Based on the prediction the person could make a choice whether to invest or not.
